FUEHRER AND DUCE CONFERENCE PROPOSED FDR Says "I Do Solemnly Swear..." for Third Time

Official Details Lacking But Well-Informed Sources Believe Discussion Included Greek and North African Campaigns, Battle of Britain and Policy Toward U. S.

FURTHER SUCCESSES REPORTED IN AFRICA

By The Associated Press. Adolf Hitler and his so-called Axis partner, Benito Mussolini, met at an undisclosed spot today amid Fascist assertions that a vast new German-Italian offensive was brewing against Britain in the Mediterranean war theater.

A German communiqué said that the conference exemplified "the close fighting alliance existing between the German and Italian people" and that the two leaders were "in complete accord."

With official details lacking, it was assumed in well-informed quarters that the discussion touched upon these subjects:

1. The Greek and North African campaigns, and how Hitler can rescue Italy's battered legions.
2. The Battle of Britain, with probable emphasis on the question of delivering a knockout blow before American aid becomes effective.

DEATH OF WIFE DELAYS TRIAL FOR DEATH PLOT

Waynesburg, Pa., Jan. 20.—(P)—Judge Challen W. Waychoff today postponed until March 15 the trial of Robert Headley and two women friends on charges of plotting to kill Mrs. Headley in a fake holdup.

The postponement was granted partly as the result of the death of Mrs. Headley.

NAZIS DEMAND U. S. ACTION IN FLAG INCIDENT PROPOSE GIFT TO BRITAIN

Navy Reports Two Enlisted Men Involved Recently Had Been Under Observation in Psychopathic Ward of Hospital

LEGION TAKES HAND

Washington, Jan. 20.—(P)—The Navy said today its two enlisted men involved in the tearing of a Nazi flag at San Francisco later had been "under observation in the psychopathic ward" of the Naval Hospital on Mare Island, Calif.

They were at liberty from the hospital, it was said at the time of the incident.

Renewed although unofficial German demands for satisfaction today raised the question of whether the state department would go beyond its written expression of regret over the destruction of the German consulate's swastika flag in San Francisco.

The State Department expressed its regrets over the incident yesterday in response to a protest from the German embassy. Hours later authorized sources in Berlin announced that the German charge d'affaires here had been instructed to ask punishment of the two men arrested in the case, as well as assurances that the consulate would be permitted to fly the flag.

In the meantime the two United States naval enlisted men arrested

CIO HEAD HALTS STEEL WALKOUT AT PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, Jan. 20.—(P)—Emphasizing the defense emergency, CIO President Philip Murray quickly halted a strike that threatened to stop production at Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation's Irvin works and told steel workers who were back on their jobs today that "grievances must be settled by orderly processes."

"It would be disastrous to lend comfort to a situation that might create idleness at this time," he asserted.

"There is a great confusion of thought and it behooves labor to keep its feet on the ground."

Murray, also chairman of the last night's emergency resumption of operation at the vast plant after a walkout of 200 steel workers Friday night which spread into general strike action yesterday. They had demanded wage increases and seniority rights.

He cancelled eastern engagements to appear before a rank and file gathering of the steel workers and won a unanimous pledge of obedience to his injunction.

PALESTINE SHAKEN BY EARTH TREMORS

Jerusalem, Jan. 20.—(P)—Palestine was shaken by two series of fairly strong earth tremors early today, the first in the northern section, beginning at 6:30 a. m. (11:30 p. m. Sunday, EST.) and the second felt throughout the south at 7:20 a. m.

The center of the shocks were believed to be in Turkey.

Supreme Court Holds Pennsylvania Registration Law Unconstitutional

Washington, Jan. 20.—(P)—The supreme court held today that the passage of the 1940 federal law requiring registration of aliens in violation of a 1939 Pennsylvania alien registration statute.

Justice Black delivered the opinion, which upheld justice department contentions that the regulation of alien registration "is exclusively the concern of the federal government."

Justice Stone wrote a dissenting opinion in which Chief Justice Hughes and Justice McReynolds concurred.

The Pennsylvania law requiring the 200,000 to 400,000 aliens in the state to register with the Department of Labor and Industry has been the center of debate since it first was proposed in the 1939 session of the state legislature.

The act, backed by the Republican administration, was opposed by the Democratic minority, but passed. It was supposed to be effective December 1, but the date was automatically pushed back by a suit brought by Bernard Davidowitz and Vincenzo Travagiani in the federal courts at Scranton.

The two Philadelphians contended the law was class legislation.

Outright Contribution Of One or Two Billions Proposed as Substitute For President's Lease-Lend Measure by Opponents; Willkie Confers With Chief Executive

Kennedy To Testify At Hearing Tuesday

Washington, Jan. 20.—(P)—Countering Wendell L. Willkie's renewed endorsement of the salient points in President Roosevelt's aid-to-Britain bill, opposition senators talked today of introducing a substitute measure for an outright gift to the British of $1,000,000,000 or $2,000,000,000.

Indications that this "gift" strategy would be employed in the determined fight for defeat of the lease-lend legislation served notice that inauguration day signified no armistice in the developing legislative contest.

Discussion of the substitute proposal was heard after Willkie met with President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull yesterday in a flying visit to the capital before his transatlantic clipper trip on Wednesday to survey conditions in England at first hand.

From Mr. Roosevelt Willkie received a penciled note to Prime Minister Churchill. The message, carrying the greeting "Dear Churchill," said that the 1940 Republican nominee for president was trying to keep politics out of the American defense program. It also expressed the wish that Britain would weather the storm of war.

Willkie said that his conferences with the president and Hull were "very pleasant" and added that they had "extended every courtesy" for his forthcoming trip.

Administration leaders said they thought Willkie's visit to the White House would tend to bolster Republican support of the lend-lease measure, even though Willkie suggested three modifications—a time limit on the extraordinary powers granted the president, congressional retention of "purse strings" and a section-by-section congressional study to determine whether all the authority conferred

FILM STAR MARRIES PASSAIC PHYSICIAN

Passaic, N. J., Jan. 20.—(P)—Glenda Farrell, blonde stage and screen actress currently starring in the Broadway play, "Separate Rooms," was married yesterday to Dr. Henry Ross, a physician whom she met during treatment for a cold.

Actress Mary Brian was maid of honor. Police Judge Michael Andrus performed the ceremony in the parlor of the home of Dr. Irving H. Saxe, an associate of the groom. Nat Ross was best man.

The marriage was the second for Miss Farrell, who gave her age as 35. Her husband is 39.

TWELVE DIE IN STATE MISHAPS OVER WEEK-END

By The Associated Press

Fire, automobiles and mine accidents contributed heavily to a weekend accidental death toll of at least 12 lives over the weekend.

In Philadelphia, Mrs. Julia Cristy, 59, was fatally burned when her clothes caught fire as a gas stove exploded in her home and Michael John Bojko, a seaman, died after being found unconscious in his burned apartment.

The body of Charles Wenrich, 72, a recluse, was found in the smoldering ruins of his Dauphin home.

Automobiles killed five-year-old Jerry Tocco near his Jeanette home; Apathia Groves, 37, of Pittsburgh, died in a crash.

FDR Says "I Do Solemnly Swear..." for Third Time

Back in 1933 a new leader assumed the presidency of the United States of America. Men were marching those days... marching in relief demonstrations... marching to banks that closed doors in their faces. In 1937 that same man was inaugurated for his second term as President. With America still struggling to get out of depression, men were still on the march... marching behind WPA wheelbarrows... marching to work-relief jobs that kept their families from starving. Today President Roosevelt, his face plainly showing the strain of eight years in office, is being inaugurated for the third term... and men are still marching... young men are marching into the new army to defend America against the greatest threat in her history.

"Sixty for Sixty" Pension Plan Is Submitted to Legislature of the State

Harrisburg, Jan. 20.—(P)—A "sixty for sixty" pension plan, now before the Pennsylvania legislature, stirred speculation today among Townsendites and others interested in old age assistance programs.

The $60 monthly check to 60-year-olds is the plan of State Senator John J. Heltman, an insurance agent whose hobby is public finance.

Induska would finance his proposal by legalizing and taxing slot machines, pin ball games, and similar devices, bingo games and theatre bank nights.

He believes the state could raise $2,650,000 a year through such levies.

CRISP WEATHER ADDS COLOR TO 3RD INAUGURAL

BY FRANCIS J. KELLY

Washington, Jan. 20.—(P)—Crisp winter weather which might have come straight from Alaska sounded out the all-American flavor of President Roosevelt's third inauguration day.

Mink coats and mackinaws mingled in the great throngs of visitors who streamed in from 48 states, the territories and possessions, and spectators needed mink or mackinaws to keep warm.

They began assembling early about Pennsylvania avenue, braving the chilly north wind that whipped the flags proudly overhead. Storekeepers and farmers, New Englanders and Californians, sought special vantage points from which to watch Mr. Roosevelt ride to Capitol Hill.

Other thousands packed at the Lincoln Memorial, where the inaugural parade began before the capital. Here too was the starting point of the (Turn to Page Two)

Michigan City, Ind., Jan. 20.—(P)—Mrs. Eva Swanson, 25, who weighs 25 pounds and was previously childless, gave birth to quadruplets, three girls and a boy, by a Caesarian section today in St. Anthony's Hospital. The last-born, a girl, died shortly after 11 a. m.

Dr. R. A. Gilmore, her personal physician, announced the multiple birth, a comparative rarity in medical annals, and said Mrs. Swanson, only 4 feet, 11 inches tall, was "fine."

The hospital for convenience sake named the babies "Swanson One, Two, Three and Four." They were placed immediately in incubators and given oxygen.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT TAKES OATH BEFORE HUGE CAPITAL CROWD

Chief Executive Tells Multitude Jamming Capitol Plaza "Democracy Is Not Dying;" Calls for Continuation of "The Spirit—the Faith of America;" Retiring Vice President John N. Garner Administers Oath to Successor, Henry A. Wallace, Before President Is Sworn in by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes

By The Associated Press. Washington, Jan. 20.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, solemnly taking his third presidential oath beneath the capitol's sun-flecked dome, proclaimed to defense-minded Americans today that "our strong purpose is to protect and perpetuate the integrity of democracy."

Before a shivering crowd estimated by capitol police at more than 75,000, the president stood bareheaded beside Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, placed his hand on a worn old Dutch family Bible and promised to "preserve, protect and defend the constitution."

A mighty cheer went up from the multitude jamming the broad plaza. They kept up a deafening applause as Mr. Roosevelt stepped to the front of a white pillared pavilion and began a brief inaugural address which was, in effect, a sermon on the glories of democracy.

"Democracy is not dying," he said in measured tones. "We know it because we have seen it revive and grow."

"We know it can not die because it is built on the unhampered initiative of individual men and women joined together in a common enterprise—an enterprise undertaken and carried through by the free expression of a free majority, x x x"

"We know it because democracy alone has constructed an unlimited civilization capable of infinite progress in the improvement of human life."

Just before Mr. Roosevelt took his oath as the country's first third-term president, he sat attentively while John N. Garner, a smile creasing his ruddy face, swore in Henry A. Wallace of Iowa as his successor in the vice presidency.

The chief executive counselled at the outset of his talk against risking "the real peril of inaction" and interpolated before this phrase the words, "we risk the peril of isolation."

His words recalled to the audience his call for action eight years ago, at the time of his first inauguration, when a banking crisis faced the United States.

"Most vital to our present and our future is this experience of a democracy which successfully survived crisis at home; put away many evil things; built new structures on enduring foundations; and through it all, maintained the fact of its democracy."

He called for a continuation of "the spirit—the faith of America."

Principal Passages From the President's Inaugural Address

Washington, Jan. 20.—(P)—Some outstanding passages from President Roosevelt's third inaugural address:

In the face of great perils never before encountered, our strong purpose is to protect and to perpetuate the integrity of democracy.

We do not retreat. We are not content to stand still. As Americans, we go forward, in the service of our country, by the will of God.

The preservation of the spirit and faith of the nation does, and will, furnish the highest justification for every sacrifice that we may make in the cause of national defense.

The life of a nation is the fullness of the measure of its will to live.

There are men who believe... that for some unexplained reason, tyranny and slavery have become the surging wave of the future—and that freedom is an ebbing tide.

But we Americans know that is not true.

GOVERNOR INSPECTS GAP MILITARY POST

Harrisburg, Jan. 20.—(P)—Governor James L. Patton looked over the $8,000,000 federal improvements at the Indiantown Gap military post yesterday before conferring with William S. Knudsen and other defense chiefs in Washington.

James made an unannounced inspection of the buildings which will eventually house 22,000 men.

Workers at the reservation said James appeared pleased with the progress on the expansion program including facilities for winter encampment of troops.

Those were the days of bicycles built for two and that very new fangled invention—Marconi's wireless. New York was yet to open its first subway and the Panama Canal was a distant dream.

Today the 72-year-old Garner was full of smiles and jests as he bade goodbye to the many colleagues of his 38 years in congress—30 years as a member and speaker of the house and eight as vice president.

He confided to reporters that what he had in mind now was to get home to Uvalde, Tex., as quickly as possible. Once there, he (Turn to Page Nine)

Start Judging Farm Exhibits At Harrisburg

Standing around and just looking lordly was Sargo, the champion steer crowned at the International Livestock Exposition. He can't compete because he's not a native of the Keystone State. He wore the expression of one fully aware that he cost his owner $3.30 a pound—or $3,300—at the Chicago exposition.

But there were 1,312 other primed and cultured animals who were ready to stroll before the critical gaze of the judges who can tell a well-bred critter when they see one.

Competing not only with themselves but with the thousands of human spectators, for noise and din, were 4,088 hens and roosters in the poultry division. Besides their feathers they were proud of the 870 dozens of eggs they produced.

For the first time, 20 leading varieties of Pennsylvania potatoes will be displayed with specific information as to conditions under which they can best be grown.

For example, the apple exhibit is 20 per cent greater than ever before, he said, and the tobacco division has 30 per cent more exhibitors—414—and is of surpassing quality.

Light and Governor James were scheduled to head the formal opening tonight, although the chief executive's presence was not certain. He is attending the inaugural ceremonies in Washington with other governors.

and violated the constitutional guarantees of personal freedom.

The commonwealth answered that the act was proper and was intended simply as a census law. It also would help the state to administer other Pennsylvania laws pertaining to aliens, the department of justice said.

Under the terms of the registration law, each alien upon the payment of a $1 fee would be issued a card which he or she would have to show upon the demand of any law enforcement officer.

The U. S. Circuit Court at Scranton ruled the law unconstitutional in an opinion delivered by Judges John Biggs, Jr., Charles Alvin Jones and Albert L. Watson. They said it "encroaches upon a field (citizenship) reserved to federal action."

SECOND VICTIM OF CRASH DIES FROM INJURIES

Floyd Russell Gray passed away last evening at the Warren General Hospital from injuries sustained two weeks ago in an auto accident which occurred on the Scott Crossing overpass, east of Irvine. This was the second death as a result of the accident, Cecil Mealey, 22, of Jackson Run, who passed away at the hospital early December 31, being the other victim of the unfortunate accident. Three others were hurt in the crash.

The deceased, a resident of Jackson Run, was born November 1, 1899. He was employed by the National Forge and Ordnance Company at Irvine.

Besides his wife, Doris Lacy Gray, he is survived by two daughters, Barbara Helen Gray and Donna Eleanor Gray, five brothers, Frank W. and Ralph Gray, of Yankee Bush, Walter and Raymond Gray, of Starbuck, and John Gray, of North Warren; three sisters, Mrs. Harriet Martin and Miss Florence Gray, both of Warren, and Mrs. Gertrude Grosch, of Kane.

The body was removed to the Peterson Funeral Home where friends may call and from where services in his memory will be held Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. J. H. Cruickshank, of the North Warren Presbyterian church, will officiate and interment will be in the Mead cemetery at Yankee Bush.

traditional inaugural parade—a parade which this year underscores the grim martial note of a determined rearming America.

The mile-long route from the White House to Capitol Hill and all streets in the vicinity were cleared of vehicles.

Concessionaires set their coffee urns bubbling early. Signs on flag-bedecked stands proclaimed that national institutions: "Hot dogs—10 cents." Hawkers of Roosevelt-Wallace label buttons were everywhere.

Candid cameras bounced on the chests of amateur photographers hurrying to snap pictures of celebrities. And there were hundreds of notables for them to focus upon.

One lens target was Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, the president's mother, whose arrival at the Union station late yesterday brought a warm patter of applause from travelers and sightseers. Within the same half hour, the station crowd cheered Charlie Chaplin, who participated in the inaugural gala.

Americans of all occupations and from all economic levels took part in the inaugural excitement. The roll of states could be called from the license plates of cars packed in the larger parking lots. Canada, too, appeared well represented.

Hotels were jammed to capacity and many visitors had to find rooms in private homes. The municipal tourist camp on the bank of the Potomac hung out the S. R. O. sign two days ago. Some foreign sightseers brought trailers behind them.

Four "Pullman cities" were established in the railway yards to give temporary abode to rail-borne travelers.

Before Murray appeared, other SWOC officers disclosed plans for a general walkout of the plant's 3,000 employees, effective today.

In calling for settlement of grievances by orderly methods, Murray declared "that's the only way they ever will be settled. The grievances must be referred to national officers."

"That's my settled position—settlement in accordance with provisions in each labor agreement," he told the workers.

The CIO chieftain is scheduled to confer tomorrow with officials of the United States Steel Corporation, of which Carnegie-Illinois is a subsidiary, on the union contract which Murray helped negotiate in 1937.

He has said "there is ample justification under present conditions for an increase in wages in the steel industry."

LOUIS J. HOLMES

Louis J. Holmes, manager of the Hoff Business College, passed away at his home, 7 Cedar street, Saturday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock following a very short illness.

Funeral services will be held from this city, and at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and interment will be made in the Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Holmes was born in Warren in 1872, the son of L. P. and Hanna Holmes. He was graduated from Edinboro State Teachers' College in 1893 and was for 15 years rector and Crawford counties. In 1906, he purchased a partnership in the Hoff Business College and has been associated with the college as business manager since that time.

In 1907, he was married to Margaret Paterson. Besides his wife, he is survived by one brother, William Holmes, of Vancouver, B. C.; two nephews, Emmett Gross, 15, of Erie, and Roy Holmes, of Kansas City, Mo., and one niece, Margaret Hanson, of Warren.

Mr. Holmes was a member of the First Methodist church; of North Star Lodge, No. 241, F. and A. M., and of Coudersport Consistory. He was one of the most active members of the Warren Chess Club.

MRS. EDWARD FLICK

Russell Jan. 20.—Mrs. Margaret Flick, wife of Edward Flick, passed away at the Warren General Hospital at eight o'clock Sunday evening, aged 73 years last Monday.

Besides her husband, she leaves the following children: Mrs. Genevieve Kelley, Russell; Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Alfred Hultquist, Clarendon; Mrs. Foster Everett, Eldred; Mrs. Andrew Johnston, Mt. Alto; Edward Flick, Jr., of Olean, N. Y.; also 18 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Removal was made to Leeper and interment will be made in the Scotch Hill cemetery.

RICHARD YOUNGQUIST

Word has been received by Mrs. Josephine Johnson, of Stoneham, of the death of her nephew, Richard Youngquist, of Anglewood, Calif. Death occurred in the Los Angeles Hospital Wednesday, January 16. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Youngquist, formerly of Tiona and Clarendon.

CARL C. THOMAS

Carl Clinton Thomas, of Tidoulet, passed away yesterday afternoon at the Warren General Hospital at the age of 60.

He leaves his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Alfred Sutton, of Tidoulet; also two brothers and one sister, Fred and Bert Thomas and Mrs. Levi Heath, all of Tidoulet.

Removal was made to the Sage Funeral Home in Tidoulet, where services will be held Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. Interment will be in the Sutton Hill cemetery.

MATTHEW JOHN WOZNEAK

Funeral services in memory of Matthew John Wozneak, 509 Beech street, were held at ten o'clock Friday morning from St. Joseph's church. A requiem mass was sung by Father Edward Jacobs and interment was made in St. Joseph's cemetery, with the following members of Chief Complanter Post, American Legion, acting as bearers: C. D. Cannon, D. E. Schuler, Ralph Brasington, T. H. Milenius, C. L. Thompson and Carl Anderson.

The military ritual was used at the grave with N. K. Wendelboe as commander; Carl Andergog, chaplain; J. Casses, bugler, who sounded taps. In the Company I firing squad were Sergeant Snyder, Corporals Clark and LeTrent and Privates Rosman, Honhart, Rubszyk and Adders.

In attendance at the rites from away were Mr. and Mrs. Conrad

Amusements

"COMRADE X" AT THE LIBRARY THEATRE TODAY AND TUESDAY

The story by Ben Hecht and Charles Lederer, is a newspaper comedy laid in Russia. It gives Gable fast action comparable to "Boom Town," together with a continuous string of comedy situations and hundreds of fast-talking, wise-cracking line of dialogue. The only roles from laughs are taken up with romantic scenes. Miss Lamarr's is her first full-on action role. She drives a street car, fights another girl, has a scrap with Gable, hops a freight car and does a swimming scene inside a war tank. Her wardrobe is small but startling. She wears a floor-length, formless, stiff linen nightgown and a costly silk one. She is seen in feminine uniform.

Outstanding roles in support of the stars are played by Oscar Homolka, Felix Bressart and Eve Arden. Homolka, internationally famous actor, will be remembered for his work in "Rhodes" and "Ebb Tide," among numerous other hits. Bressart is the man who first scored as the comic, commissar in "Ninotchka," and who has more recently played "picture stealing" parts in "Escape."

YESTERDAY: There are a lot of problems in David and Polly's young lives, but the chief one is how and when they can get married. Polly is determined that she will not be until David is free from financial worries, and David feels there are not as important as Polly. Besides, there is Margo Powers, who is all glamour and in addition the daughter of David's boss. Polly is talking with her Aunt Susan.

Chapter 16 The Kiss

"JEBBE I could take in board-ers," said Aunt Susan, "and manage that way. So you and David could get married, live in the Wiley cottage and look after that rambunctious boy."

"Peter's not rambunctious," said Polly. "He's a darling. And you know perfectly well you couldn't look after boarders. Suppose you had one of your stomach attacks in the middle of the night. Who'd fix breakfast for the boarders the next morning? Who'd look after their rooms?"

Aunt Susan sighed. "I reckon you're right, honey," she said. "It's just too bad I wasn't took along with David's Aunt Julia."

"Stop talking like an old silly!" said Polly. She gave her aunt a quick hug. "I'm going down to the plant now to see David, and tell him about the job."

"I would do that, if I were you," Aunt Susan said. "And I'd also find a way to let him know I still loved him, so he wouldn't start getting notions about other girls."

Polly said nothing to this. And a short time afterwards she was walking among the tall stacks of lumber with David, talking to him animatedly of the new work she was to begin the next day, telling him how handy the two weeks salary was going to be.

"But it means you won't be able to play bridge up at Margo's," said David. "You know she's expecting us."

"Yes," said Polly. "But what's an evening of bridge, when I have a job? You can tell Margo I'll have to call it off—since she sent the invitation through you."

"I'm certainly going to miss you, David went on. 'Not being able to see you evenings. And there'll be no one to drive Peter out to the pool afterwards.'"

"You can drive him out after work," said Polly. "You know how long the evenings are. You and Peter can get in a swim after supper, or swim first and have your supper afterwards."

"Sure. But it won't be nearly as much fun without you. We'll feel sort of lost, Sweetness."

Polly took hold of David's arm. She stood looking up at him, remembering her aunt's words. Suddenly she arose on her tiptoes, and kissed David's cheek.

He was surprised, but quickly got hold of himself, and blushed. He kissed her back, and then he kissed her on the lips.

"Darling," he said, "that's the first kiss we've had in ages."

"About a week," said Polly. "Anyway, it seems like ages to me."

Polly pulled away. "I've got to go now, David," she said. "I've got some marketing and other errands to tend to. I want to get in everything that Aunt Susan needs for cooking, and I have to be at the theatre at nine in the morning."

David walked with her to the wide gate of the lumber yard. "I sure do hate to think of you working while Peter and I are having fun," he said.

"It's only for two weeks—worse luck," said Polly. She hurried out through the gate, calling back: "Don't forget to tell Margo I'm sorry I can't come up for bridge."

"I won't," said David. He turned and went back to the office.

There he telephoned Margo and explained about Polly.

"How nice she has a job," Margo said. "And don't worry about the bridge. I'll get another fourth. Dad's got his heart set on playing."

"Good," David said. "I wouldn't want him disappointed." He then said: "I may be a little late getting up to your place. You see, I want to take Peter out for his swim after work. Now that Polly will be working afterwards, the only time Peter will be able to get out to the pool is when I take him."

Bright Idea

"OH, I've got an idea," said Margo. "I'll take him out in my car while Polly's working. I haven't anything else to do, and I saw yesterday when I went out to the Inn with Peter and Polly how crazy he is about the water. I'd love looking after him. David—really I would."

"Say, Margo, would you do that?" David said eagerly. "Of course, I'd adore it."

"I certainly would be grateful," David said. "I've a feeling the swims are going to do Peter's leg a lot of good—the swims and the sunshine."

Then, it's all settled," said Margo. "It's high time I was being of service to someone. See you tomorrow evening, David."

Two receivers clicked back into their respective hooks.

CEMETERY MEETING

A meeting of the board of trustees of St. Joseph's Cemetery Association will be held Wednesday evening, January 22 at 8 o'clock in St. Joseph's rectory. All trustees are urged to be present.

PLANS FOR BANQUET

Plans are being made for the annual Father and Son Banquet, sponsored by the boys department of the Y. W. C. A., which will be held at the association building on Monday, February 25. It was announced today by Boys Work Secretary T. E. Eppley.

RETURNS TO NAVY

Gordon Bennett, of the U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bennett, of Stoneham, returned to Newport, R. I., Saturday night after spending a week's leave with his parents. In February he will go to the Great Lakes Training School for 16 weeks training.

I. O. O. F. PAST GRANDS

Past Grand Council No. 1, Warren and Forest counties, will hold its regular meeting tomorrow night at Warren Lodge, at which time the annual installation of officers will be held. Prior to the Past Grands' session, the local lodge will meet and the initiatory degree conferred.

MADE SERGEANT

Word has been received here that Corporal Jack W. Dunkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Dunkle, this city, has been advanced to the rank of sergeant. Sgt. Dunkle, who enlisted in Buffalo on August 16, 1935, was made a corporal on October 26, 1939 and a sergeant on December 26. He is attached to Company "L", 26th Infantry, at Plattsburg, N. Y.

ANNOUNCE PROGRAM

Nomination of H. I. officers will be made Wednesday night at the regular meeting of the club at the Y. M. C. A., it was announced today by the program committee. "Tut" Babbitt and Leon Christiansen. On January 29, the officers will be elected and a pie social enjoyed. Amateur Night will be the program for February 5, with Tiji players and a faculty three dinner scheduled for February 19 and 26. A speaker, unannounced, is scheduled for February 12. Harry Conroy is president of the club.

RECEIVES PROMOTION

The promotion of Corporal P. E. Carlson, of Franklin, to the rank of sergeant in the Pennsylvania Motor Police and his transfer to Troop B at Washington, Pa., will be of interest to his many friends in Warren and vicinity. A native of Brookston, "Pete" Carlson has served stations in Cory and Franklin, and has been in charge of the sub-station in the latter place for the past 18 months. His promotion and transfer were effective January 16 and he left for Washington on Saturday. Assigned to Franklin as his successor is G. A. Sifter, advanced to a corporal's rank after having served in the examining detail at Franklin for several years.

WRITINGS PUBLISHED

Friends will be interested to know that writings of Miss Eva Jane Smith, formerly of Russell, have appeared recently in two nationally circulated monthly magazines. A Christmas poem, "My Yule Log," by Miss Smith, appeared in a special holiday number of "Son Light," published in Indianapolis and dedicated to "the nurture of the inner life." In the "Aquarian Age" for January, widely known metaphysical digest published in Santa Barbara, appear two meditations, "Good Morning Thoughts" and "Good Night Thoughts" by the local resident. The latter are familiar to friends of the writer, since she has published them privately for some time in postcard form, in which manner they have found international circulation.

What Do You Know About ALBANIA?

1. This man lost his throne when the Italians moved into Albania. What's his name and when was he deposed?
2. The area of Albania is nearest that of which of these states: Tennessee, Arizona, West Virginia?
3. Albanians are famous for their exploits as seamen. True or false?
4. The terrain of Albania can best be likened to that of Kansas, Louisiana, West Virginia?
5. Albania was founded as a modern kingdom in 1884, 1913, 1920?

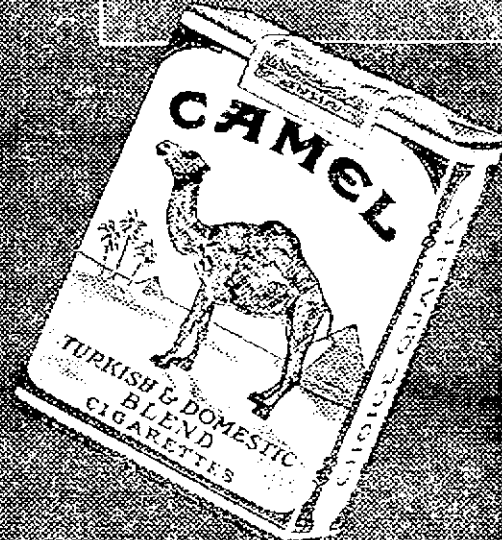

Each full question counts 20. A score of 80 is good.

than the average of the 4 other largest-selling brands tested—less than any of them—according to independent laboratory tests of the smoke itself

FOR many a year your taste and your tongue told you there was something distinctive about Camels... something you just couldn't seem to find in any other cigarette.

Then scientific research told you Camels were slower-burning. You learned that this slower way of burning meant more mildness, more coolness, and more flavor in the smoke.

Now, new tests—impartial laboratory tests of the smoke itself—confirm still another advantage of Camels' slower burning: Less nicotine in the smoke. Less than any of the four other largest-selling brands tested—28% less than the average!

And when independent laboratory tests reveal such a distinct advantage for one brand of cigarettes over all the others tested—that's worth your looking into—right now!

Try the slower-burning cigarette... try Camels. Compare them... compare them by smoking them. The smoke's the thing!

BY BURNING 25% SLOWER than the average of the 4 other largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them—Camels also give you a smoking plus equal, on the average, to 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

Mid-Winter Institute of Epworth League Scheduled Here Next Week

A very interesting and inspiring program has been arranged for the Jamestown District mid-winter Epworth League Institute to be held in the local First Methodist church on Friday and Saturday, January 24-25.

Officers in charge of the institute will include the district superintendent, Rev. J. A. Galbraith, of Jamestown, N. Y.; dean, Rev. Harold L. Knappenberg, of Cattaraugus, N. Y.; formerly of Russell, assistant dean, Rev. Delbert E. Jolley, of Ripley, N. Y., who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Jolley, Water street, and went from Grace Methodist church to the ministry; manager, Rev. G. H. Palmer, Dunkirk, N. Y.; registrar, H. J. Masman, Lakewood, N. Y.

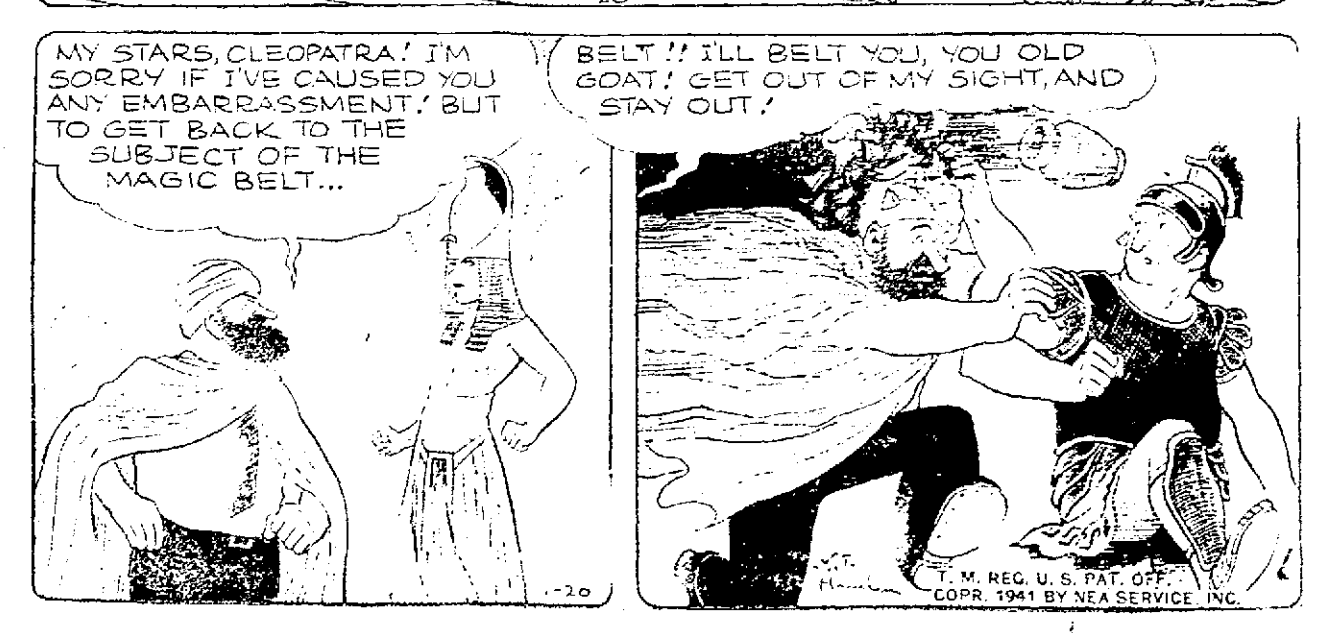

Helen Vaughn, Warren: "A Christian Social Order." Rev. M. E. Lindstrom, Prewsburg, N. Y., and formerly of London: "Christian Citizenship." Rev. C. W. Baldwin, Little Valley, N. Y.: "Standards of Personal Living." Rev. D. M. Hasbrouck, Brocton, N. Y.: "Between the Hymnal Ends." Rev. Philip Schlick, Forestville, N. Y.

The closing challenge will be given on Saturday afternoon by Rev. Delbert Jolley.

Registration for the institute will take place on Friday afternoon from four until six o'clock. This year's institute, with First church as host, and Grace and Epworth churches cooperating, promises to be a very fine one. A more detailed schedule will be published later.

ALLEY OOP In Other Words, "Scram!" By V. T. HAMM

CAPITAL GOSSIP

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Meet the new "mayor" of Washington. He's Sen. Robert Rice Reynolds of North Carolina and he gets his title of mayor because he has just been elevated to chairmanship of the Senate District of Columbia committee which handles all affairs of the district in the upper house.

"Our Bob," as most of the folks back in the Tar Heel state know him, came to the Senate the easy way—but not without plenty of splash and color. If he doesn't bring some of the latter to the usually colorless job of being Washington's mayor, a lot of the natives are going to be disappointed.

Already there are indications he won't let them down. He has announced for one thing that he is going to unseat Senator Trafficant and for another that he's going to hold open house once a month when Washingtonians can come up and air their grievances. That is about like taking on Joe Louis with one hand and holding off the Chicago football Bears with the other.

After "Bob" Reynolds got his law degree, he launched on one of his many junkies. It was a trip around the world. He took with him the names and addresses of thousands of North Carolinians and from every war station, he shot them back home, announcing that he was candidate for lieutenant governor. He's probably the only candidate for any office in this country who announced from Bombay, India—and he damned near won.

Gave Him A Start

HE CAME close enough that the politicians in his home county had to consider him in spite of his youth. It was a Republican county and they figured it didn't make much difference anyway, so they filed his name as a Democrat for county attorney. Much to everybody's amazement, including Bob's, he won. That job of prosecuting Buncie county (yes, the county from which are got our word "bunk") was the only political one Bob held until he jumped from comparative obscurity into the Senate in 1932.

He made the leap by way of an old jalopy and a dinner menu from one of Washington's most

Home State Booster

If THE vote tally means anything, "our Bob" gets along all right back home. He should, for he's North Carolina's No. 1 booster. He has traveled in almost every country in both hemispheres, but whether he is shooting walrus with the Eskimos or climbing pyramids in the valley of the Nile, he never ceases singing the praises of his home state and hometown, Asheville, which he always refers to as "the little gem city of the mountains."

The only thing Washingtonians will have to watch out for is that the new "mayor" doesn't slip through a bill to move the capital to North Carolina.

ILL-FATED LIGHTHOUSE SITE

Two attempts in 1891 and 1894, were made to build a permanent lighthouse on the outer reef of Diamond Shoals, off Cape Hatteras, North Carolina. No further attempt has been made since that time to replace the tugging Diamond lighthouse.

WARREN'S WORKING WELL!

According to figures received recently from the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, Ohio, which were furnished to the Times-Mirror by one of the officers of the Warren National Bank, this community is well under way in its share of the nation's increased effort. The Federal Reserve figures cover the twenty-six cities in the Fourth Federal Reserve District which have the largest banking assets, and they include the territory comprising all of Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, and part of Kentucky.

These figures measure the increase of debits (or checks) to individual accounts, and they indicate the improved business conditions which caused these payments for goods and services provided by workers and industry. Increased purchases of raw materials, freight, additional labor and new machinery means greater use of banking facilities for the payment of these items, and the bank accounts reflect these changes in the velocity or transfer of money.

Warren is fortunate in leading the entire Fourth Federal Reserve District in the amount of improvement being registered. For the four weeks ended December 18, 1940, Warren had debits (or checks) totaling $13,731,000, or 21% better than the same period in the previous year. The entire year 1940 showed total debits of $135,818,000 against $115,690,000 for the year 1939, or an increase of 17.4 10%.

Butler	$118,848,000	10.1
Erie	355,292,000	12.6
Franklin	37,974,000	13.5
Oil City	122,097,000	5.3
Sharon	105,594,000	10.2
Steubenville	121,262,000	7.1
Warren (Pa.)	135,818,000	17.4

All of this goes to show that with Warren's many fine industries engaged in the processes of steel plate construction, other metal goods, shelving, tools, refining, furniture, mail order, and other businesses contributing to the prosperity of Warren, we have a community which is outstanding in the diversity of its industry and the progress it is making. Put these together with our good schools, churches, cultural and governmental agencies, as well as the natural beauty of our surroundings, and we can all agree that "What you want's in Warren."

LAMBS AND WOLVES

Innocence is a lovely virtue. It implies a certain purity and simplicity of mind that is in itself a thing of beauty. In a lamb it is an admirable quality.

A nation, however, cannot afford innocence, especially in a world in which most nations are more akin to the wolf than to the lamb.

Only a few years ago, wire-tapping in the Department of Justice was bitterly resented, and when it was abolished, people sighed with relief, content that ancient liberties had been preserved.

Now Attorney-General Robert H. Jackson is compelled to ask Congress for special permission to tap telephone wires in cases involving espionage and other grave crimes. Why? Because we know that the wolf is among us, and that the lamb's innocence is little protection when spies must be fought with their own weapons.

Are we losing our Golden Age innocence? Or are we just getting smart to ourselves?

PUTTING THE BAD IN BADMINTON

Already those sacrifices we have been told must be made on account of the war in Europe are beginning to sit up and make faces at us. It seems that it's getting difficult to procure the shuttlecocks (corks with feathers stuck in 'em) that are batted about in the game of badminton.

American goose quills aren't tough enough, it seems, and the really tough ones which used to come, appropriately enough, from Greece, can't get through war zones.

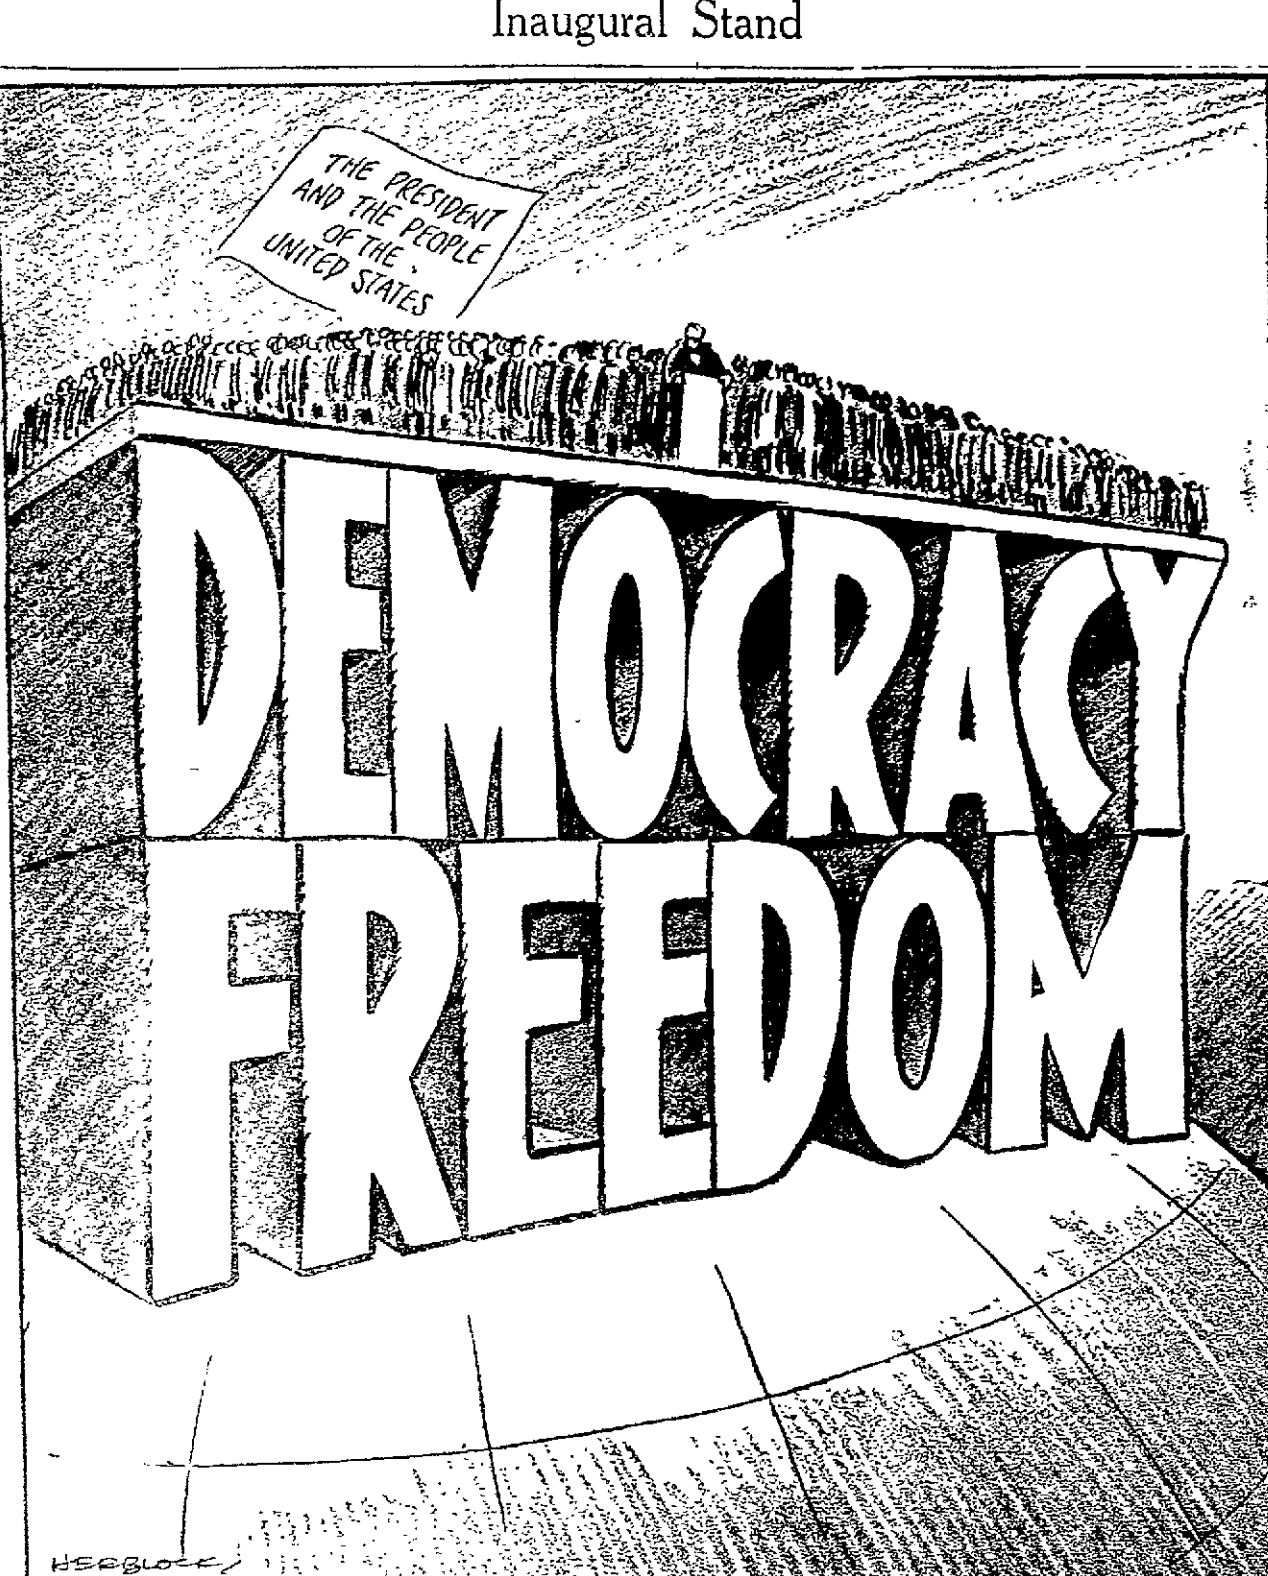

Now is the time for all good geese to get tough for the sake of badminton. But if they can't make the grade, the quills of the American eagle are still pretty tough enough for even faster games.

CONSUMPTION TO BE STRESSED INSTEAD OF RESTRICTIONS

Washington, Jan. 20—An eight-year-old fight between liberals and conservatives in the Department of Agriculture is ending at last with the liberals winning all along the line.

Symbol of the liberals' victory is the retention of Claude Wickard as secretary of agriculture in the third-term cabinet. In substance, the victory means a defeat for the AAA group, led by such men as AAA Administrator R. M. Evans and I. W. Dugan, head of AAA's southern division. The victors' leaders are Milo Perkins, head of the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation; C. E. Baldwin, chief of the Farm Security Administration; and Howard Toller, head of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

The decision will mean less emphasis on crop restriction and more emphasis on measures to increase consumption. Less of the AAA program and more of things like the stamp plan and the farm tenant program.

Two actions by Secretary Wickard recently gave the tip-off on the victory.

One was his public statement urging farmers to raise more hogs to take advantage of rising pork prices. This was heavy to the conservatives in the department, who argued it was cheaply a means of knocking down pork prices all over again.

Another was Wickard's announcement of a supplemental cotton program, which in effect will give cotton growers cotton stamps rather than cash for making further reductions in cotton acreage—a measure aimed at increasing consumption of cotton goods at the same time that it cuts production of raw cotton, thereby adding to the surplus from both sides.

The argument between the two wings of the department dates back to the beginning of the New Deal. In the main, the conservative group stood for the theory that the farm problem could be solved by cutting production and keeping prices up. It has fought to retain agriculture's foreign markets, via export subsidies. In cutting domestic production, it has consciously or unconsciously followed the viewpoint of the large-scale farmer, the big plantation owner, the farming-is-a-business man.

From the start this brought about a scrap. The other group in the department protested that the AAA program was making the plight of the tenant and the share-cropper worse, that only a broadening of the domestic market offered any real hope, and that to insist on keeping the export market at all costs would ultimately raise hob with the nation's foreign policy.

Several years ago the conservatives triumphed, and there followed the famous "triple-A purge" in which such men as Jerome Frank and Gardner Jackson were ousted. But events played into the hands of the liberal bloc. The war helped kill the reliance on export markets. The existence today of a 14,000,000-bale cotton carry-over

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1921

That the reported hard times of other places has not struck Warren is shown by the fact that there are no more sheriff sales or executions at the present time than there were during the period of prosperity, when everyone was working and there was money to burn. It is not likely there will be any failures in the near future.

In 1931

A Junior Circle of the P. H. C. was instituted last night with the following officers: Counselor, Ruth Westcott, with Gertrude Betts, assistant; past president, Helen Westcott; president, Ruth Lord; vice president, Arnell Johnson; secretary, Edna Morse; treasurer, Howard Clark; guardian, Helen Betts; chaplain, Vera Fitzgerald; companion, William Johnson; guide, Clarence Engler; sentinel, Agnes Lord; usher, Esther Collins, with Doris Westcott, assistant.

Excited Ruler George Savas has announced that the Elks will hold "Old Times' Night" February 17. Alfred Schellhammer and A. A. Printz are in charge of arrangements.

Two-Gun Bob Limbert, of Mahoning, who has been heard over sixty radio stations and appeared before service clubs in every section of the country, gave a delightful talk at the Kiwanis Club meeting this noon. Merle Russell led the singing with President R. Pierson Eaton at the piano.

J. R. Lodge, of Tidewater, has been named an assistant sergeant-at-arms in the state senate, Harrisburg. The appointment was recommended by Senator L. E. Chapman.

Typographical work on Arch Bristow's book, "Old Time Tales of Warren County," is progressing rapidly.

STORIES IN STAMPS

First New World Colony Located in Greenland

GREENLAND, icy island inside the Arctic Circle, assumes new importance in America's hemisphere defense program, for Greenland is a Danish possession and Denmark is under German rule. The Danish king, Christian X, is pictured on the stamp above.

Denmark's first individual stamp issues were released in 1938. The set of seven values appeared in two designs, the portrait of the king, and a picture of a polar bear on an ice floe.

Although the island boasts only 17,000 residents today, it is the site of the first attempts at European colonization in the New World. Settlements there antedate Spanish and English colonization by 500 years.

Eric the Red, Viking adventurer, explored the country in 982, named it Greenland to attract colonists. He returned in 986, founded colonies. Soon there were 3000 settlers on the island.

For 400 years the colonies remained in existence. But when the island was "re-discovered" in 1585 all traces of the settlements had disappeared. Modern colonization began in 1721.

Greenland's great ice pack has been called the world's best potential landing field.

In a recently conducted poll, 60 per cent of the persons questioned preferred to have men driving their cars rather than women.

CRANIUM CRACKERS

MISLEADING MILES

Realization that our oceans no longer form the great barriers they once did reveals that some places we once thought remote from the U. S. are closer than we think. Figuring the distance as the crow flies, how would you answer these questions about mileage between the old and new worlds?

- Is it farther from Washington, D. C. to Washington state than from Dakar, Africa, to Natal, South America?
- Are the Azores closer to New York than the Hawaiian Islands are to San Francisco?
- Is it farther from New-Foundland to Ireland than from New York City to Mexico City?
- Is Miami closer to Natal, South America, than Gibraltar?
- Which is farthest: from the Panama Canal to New Orleans, from New Orleans to Seattle, or from Seattle to Siberia?

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Notes from a capital cuff:

Young Lady of the Week—Pretty Patricia Prochnik, daughter of the former Austrian minister, Edgar L. G. Prochnik, walked up to the microphone at a local night club the other night, tossed a couple of arias at the packed house and made an item for the society history books.

Although New York debts have been swinging for pin money for so long now that their pictures no longer are "must" copy for the photo editors, Washingtonians insist this was the first instance of a diplomatic daughter going professional in the field of night club entertainment.

Three things about "Pat's" pro debut appealed to your correspondent (1) That one of the compliments paid this young daughter of yesterday's Austria (by a woman at a nearby table) was so United Statesy as this, "She sure sings right nice." (2) That the evening gown she wore was designed by herself and made by her mother. (3) That the songs she sang were "Blue Danube" lullabies at all, but such American stuff as I'm Nobody's Baby."

Man of the Week (for my money)—James W. Thomas, who probably never was heard of in Wall Street, but who has made so many millions that there's no tycoon there who wouldn't tip his hat to him. Thomas is a big, kindly gentleman of 64 winters. Just the other day, he made his list $10,000 and retired.

He was for 47 years a printer for the Bureau of Printing and Engraving and probably has made more folding money in that time than John D. Rockefeller Jr. could lay hands on between now and tomorrow morning. For almost a half-century, Thomas turned out around 28,000 bills every working day. He lists among his friends Al Johnson, whom he knew as a kid; the late "Gentleman Jim" Corbett, the world's heavyweight boxing champion; and Sen. Hiram Johnson, who has been chief next-door neighbor for eight years.

Thomas has a theory that if the economists want to get the real prosperity (or depression) pulse of the country they should work in the Bureau of Engraving. Even before the last great depression hit, he says, the Bureau was working some of its men part time. Now he points out, all the printers are working full time.

Spelling Lesson—If you want to drive the gentlemen and ladies of the Fish and Wildlife Service crazy, just address them as "wild life" (two words, instead of one). If you ask them why, they'll tell you "wild-life" has something to do with "wine, women, song, and night clubs" and be jabbers. "Wildlife" is nothing like that at all.

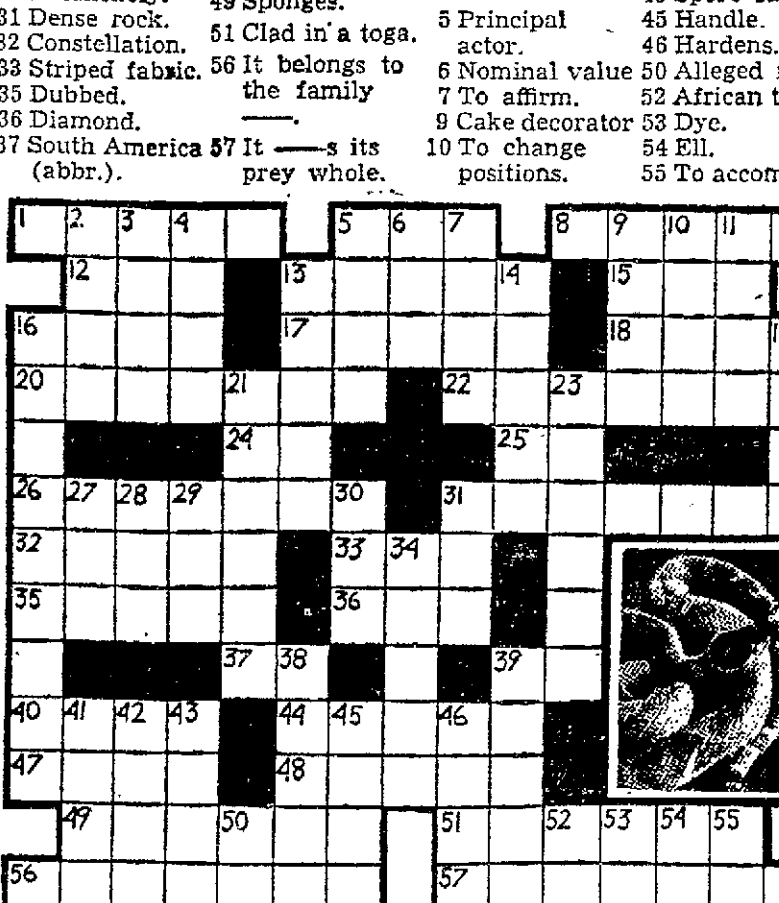

Toast That Burns—Over at the Army, national defense has resulted in rejuvenation of an old yarn. Here's how: With defense defined as protection of our shores, the coast artillery (those boys who fire the longest range guns we have) has come in for considerable attention. Just to keep them in their place, the men of other branches frequently repeat the toast offered by a general at an army banquet not so many years ago: "Here's to those sterling men of the coast artillery; they haven't ured a gun since 1812."

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Lay this morning a long time, having been awakened near dawn by my son, who hath a tooth out, and who, finding that no fairies had come in the night to retrieve it from his pillow and replace it with a dime, set up such a howl as had not been heard since the wind blew shut the door on the cat Cynthia's tail, pinching it off.

So pell mell into his quarters, and I slipped a coin under his pillow, though not very adroitly, and he skeptical at first, and then scornful, and this, methinks, for him marks the end of a thrilling adolescent illusion.

So back to bed, where I have lain these eight days past, and so made a breakfast of coffee and figs; and there came a cheerful note from Larry Ross, and another from John Cairns, the advertising executive, who fuses me with a merry ballad about my mumps, which he composed himself. And there was one, too, from Fay Thomas, whom I used to know in Cleveland and who is now at the Hotel New Yorker; and another from Mel Graff, the artist, who has sent me a book on fishing by Ray Bergman, who, like Graff, lives in Nyack, N. Y., which is where the actress Helen Hayes also lives.

SO ALL morning reading from John W. Thomason's biography of Jeb Stuart, which I found mighty fascinating, though I have already read it three or four times, and I much moved by the rich beauty of the last few passages which summarize Stuart's passing, thusly:

"So in the thirty-second year of his life, and in the fourth year of his country's independence, as he would say it, passed Jeb Stuart. All his life he was fortunate. It was given to him to toil greatly, and to enjoy greatly, and to taste no little fame from the works of his hands, and to drink the best of the cup of living. He died while there was still a thread of hope for victory. He was spared the grinding agony of the nine months' siege, the bleak months that brought culminating disasters, and the laying down of swords, at Appomattox. He took his death-wound in the front of battle, as he wanted it, and he was granted some brief hours to press the hands of men who loved him, and to arrange himself in order to report before the God of Battles, Whom he served."

I think in these words you will find the pattern of a magnificent life, and if I had them on parchment I would frame them, and look at them every day; for there was only one Stuart, and he rode to war with a plume in his hat, and a French sword over his gold cavalry sash, and when he fell, at Yellow Tavern, a color and a gleam went out of the Southern armies that never came back again.

BY POST in the late afternoon came news from observers along the railto, and the new drama by Tennessee Williams, which hath Miriam Hopkins for its star, has closed down for repairs on the road, and it will be five weeks at least before it comes to Broadway.

Betwixt hungry, and ate a fine dinner of hot spoon-bread and fish roe, which I like, and a salad which I care not for but which I was compelled to take, and some date-nut loaf which was a mighty elegant and coffee, without which no meal however simple can be worth a fig; and I hope you remember this if I am ever invited to your house.

It is claimed that approximately one-half the motorists in the United States have incomes of less than $30 a week.

The amount of gasoline produced from a barrel of crude oil in 1914 was about 18 per cent. Today, the average yield is 45 per cent.

Another 'Best Ever' Hike Is Enjoyed By Local Organization

Another "best ever" hike was registered for the Allegheny Hiking Club yesterday afternoon, when under the leadership of Vance Weld, the twenty-one hikers traversed the right branch of Dutchman Run, returning by the left branch and covering a little over five miles. The blustery storm added to the enthusiasm of the trip and the hikers reported some beautiful hemlock areas covered with snow.

Members of the club are reminded of the tuxen dinner at Jeffmore Thursday evening, January 23rd, at 6:30 p. m. The meeting place will be Room 201 Warren National Bank building at 6:30 o'clock, and cars will be provided for transportation to Jeffmore. Those who have not already done so are asked to telephone Miss Catherine Reed (1024-R) to complete arrangements and bus must be done before Wednesday evening.

Five of a Kind Make a Full House

Now you know what it means to be a "family man." Max, the youngest of five brothers in the Haywood family of Kalamazoo, Mich., became a proud papa early in 1940. Within ten months it got to be a family habit as each of his big brothers successively became a father. The family men, with children, pictured above, left to right, are Max, with Janet; Ralph with Robert, Donald, with Allen, Lawrence, with Leon; and Willard, with Norma Jean.

Annual Meeting-Dinner of D. A. C. Chapter Includes Excellent Talk-Movies by Forester Wed To Albany Man

The annual meeting of Kanawha Chapter, National Society, Daughters of the American Colonists, was held in the Woman's Club Friday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock. The regent, Mrs. Charles F. Sill, was in charge.

Routine business, including annual reports, was acted upon; and delegates and alternates elected to the 20th general assembly of the national society, to be held in the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, D. C., on April 18, 20, 21.

Mrs. L. L. Hunter, of Tidoum, was named delegate, with the regent, Mrs. Sill, as ex officio delegate. Alternates named were Mrs. Harold Hawkey, of Tidoum; Mrs. Clarence Ricker, Miss Anna G. Snyder, Mrs. A. N. McCausland and Miss Harriet B. Eaton.

Mrs. F. C. Eaton presented a recommendation that the chapter lend its efforts particularly this year to augmenting the genealogical section of the Warren Public Library and, whenever possible, members present worth while books of this nature as memorial to those departed. Thus the ideals of former members may be perpetuated and books are made available for guidance of those seeking to trace ancestral lines.

Dinner was served to members and guests at 6:30 o'clock in the club dining room. The table was attractively appointed in colonial blue and gold, the society colors, a large floral centerpiece, the table, with blue and gold streamers, the entire length and with matching candles. Unique and original place cards were the artistic work of Miss Hildegard Edwards, who with Mrs. Clarence Ricker as chairman, was responsible for the dinner and program arrangements.

At eight o'clock in the club parlors, the regent presiding, the program was opened with the pledge of allegiance, followed by devotions in charge of Mrs. Eaton. Mrs. Edwin Jack, guest soloist, sang two delightful numbers, "How Betsy Made the Flag" by Austin Miles and "Sweet Phyllis" by Lillian Strickland. As an encore, she gave "The Violet and the Sunflower" by Taylor.

The annual message of the national president, Mrs. Charles Douglas MacCarthy, of Maplewood, N. J., was read by Miss Eaton.

Mrs. Hawkey, chairman of the committee on national defense, called attention to some things the chapter could do to "Make America Safe for Democracy." Miss Olive Taylor read an article relative to circumstances surrounding the writing of the famous "Poor Richard's Almanac" by Benjamin Franklin, following the regent's reminder of its being the 235th anniversary of the birth of the greatest of all self-made men. Quotations from the almanac were read by members.

Mrs. Sill then introduced Randall McCain, of the U. S. Forest Service, who presented a program of much interest, namely colored slides of the Allegheny National Forest, including wild life, nature in all its manifestations, with emphasis on the many varieties of the forest's wild flowers. The showing of these beautiful slides and the speaker's explanations brought merited praise and appreciation.

Guests at the meeting included Mr. and Mrs. McCain; Mrs. Cole, of Chicago, Ill., a sister of Mrs. Eaton; Mrs. Elder, of Tidoum; guest of Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. E. B. Whitling and Mrs. Mabel Swanson, of Warren, and Mrs. Nell G. Sill, of Cleveland, O.

An invitation was extended by the regent from Mrs. August Morck, of Oil City, to meet at her country estate, "Chamora," in July. The next regular chapter meeting will be held in May, with Mrs. H. W. Conarso, when reports of the general assembly will be given and a paper on "Colonial Toys and Games" will be presented by Mrs. Edward Greene, of Castle, N. Y.

Miss Genevieve Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Riley, of Kinzua, and Charles E. Oliver, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Oliver, of Albany, N. Y., were united in marriage in St. Luke's Episcopal church at Kinzua at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening. Rev. E. D. Wroth, of Warren, read the marriage service.

The bride was attired in dusty rose crepe, with black accessories and wore a shoulder corsage of orchids. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Betty Riley, who wore soldier blue with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. Oliver's best man was Clarence Adams, of Falconer, N. Y., and ushers were Robert Riley, of Bradford, and Stanley Lawson, of Warren.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Doris Eymore, cousin of the bride.

A reception was held at the Riley home, where guests included members of the immediate family, Mr. Wroth, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore, of Gairland; Mr. Adams, Falconer.

The couple will reside at 2 Burke street, Bradford.

Laura Larsen Bride Of Richard Purcell

A pretty wedding was solemnized at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning in St. Clara's church at Clarksburg, where Miss Laura Larsen became the bride of Richard Purcell.

The ceremony was performed by Father M. J. Macken in the presence of members of both families. The young couple were attended by Miss Romaine Larsen, of Akeley, and Kenneth K. Maher, of Buffalo, N. Y.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Purcell will reside in Sheffield. The bride has been employed by the New Process Company and Mr. Purcell is an employee of the Bradford Penn Refining Company.

The bride-elect has been honored at several parties at which she received many lovely gifts for her new home.

Coming Marriage Is Announced At Party

Youngsville, Jan. 20.—At a delightful party given Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Dyke, at Lottsville, announcement was made of the coming marriage of their daughter, Miss Betty, to John J. Knapp, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Knapp, of Youngsville.

A two course luncheon was served at a beautifully appointed buffet table, at which Mrs. Knapp and Mrs. Reuben Dyke presided. The wedding date of February 15 was disclosed on dainty boat-shaped favors.

Guests were invited from Jamestown, N. Y., Warren, Wrightsville, Lottsville, North Warren, Sugar Grove, Lander and Youngsville.

WEEKEND VISITORS
Mr. and Mrs. Paul Collins, of Buffalo, N. Y., were the weekend guests of the former's sisters, the Misses Lucille and Josephine Collins, Verbeck street.

IN JAMESTOWN
Mrs. K. J. Knoll, of Verbeck street, was the weekend guest of Mrs. Sagrid Roche in Jamestown, N. Y.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED
Announcement is made that Magnus John Gregerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gregerson, of Cherry Grove, and Katherine Mac Leohart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Leohart, of Girard, were united in marriage in a Girard church at seven o'clock on the evening of January 15, with 100 guests in attendance.

The couple will reside in East Springfield, Pa.

A wedding reception was held at the Leohart home, with refreshments served to the 40 guests by W. C. A. where a three-tiered wedding cake centered the table and lovely bouquets were placed at each end.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Thorp, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sweeney, Buffalo; Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Thorp, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Mould, Fred Carstens, Kenneth Faber, Kenmore.

The couple will make their home in Kenmore, where Mr. Thorp is engaged in the contracting business. The bride attended the local high school for two years and was graduated from Kenmore High School in 1937. She has been employed by Remington-Rand Inc. in Buffalo.

Pre-nuptial parties have included a variety shower given by Mrs. Lydia Spangler, Warren; another by Mrs. H. W. Mould, of Kenmore; a personal shower given by Mrs. Petractis.

FERT YOUNG "DRESS-UP" STYLE

PATTERN 4688
BY ANNE ADAMS
You'll walk right off with your best beau's heart when you appear in this enchanting frock. For Pattern 4688, an Anne Adams creation, fairly sings out its message of youth and gaiety. Stitch it up quickly in a flower-sprinkled sheer. Or try the dramatic new effect of dark-and-light by making the round yoke and the tapering front panel in light contrast. There are two slimming panels down the back, and a back zipper or button closing that lets you omit a side placket. Becoming details are those soft bustline gathers, the well-fitted seams over the hips, the dainty sleeve tabs that may contrast, and the dainty whiffs of ruffling. Order this pattern today you'll find it so easy to make with the Sewing Instructor.

Two Teams In Second Place Deadlock Will Square Off Tomorrow

COLLEGE COURT LOOPS NEARING MID-TERM MARK

New York, Jan. 20.—(A)—An annoying part of the college basketball season is the interruptions. Starting early in December, the campaign is just getting up speed when it runs into the Christmas holidays. Then when the conference and league struggles are beginning to get hot in mid-January, examination time comes along. This means another period when comparatively few games are played and it means a lot more to teams whose stars become ineligible as a result.

So far this month there have been enough games in the major college circuits to weed out the weakest teams and in some cases to reveal undisputed leaders. But there's a sharp drop in the number of games scheduled this week and next, when examinations are being held, and few, if any, changes are likely before Feb. 1.

The leaders in various major conferences at present are:

- Eastern League: Dartmouth with three straight victories; Big Ten, Ohio State and Indiana both undefeated; Big Six, Oklahoma Aggies and Creighton; Southwest Conference, Arkansas; Big Seven, Denver and Utah; Pacific Coast, Northern Division, Washington; Southern Division, Stanford; Southern, North Carolina, South Carolina and Richmond unbeaten; Southeastern, Georgia Tech, Auburn and Florida.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, Jan. 20.—Tattle tales: Charley O'Rourke, the Boston College grid star, has hired a manager and is available for all engagements—from personal appearances to endorsements. Squire Gene Sarazen has just about closed to take over the Mt. Vernon C. C. at Tuckahoe, N. Y. Brown students are signing petitions urging the authorities to promote Line Coach Denny Myers to Tuss McLaughry's old job. Eck Allen, backfield coach, reported slated for Springfield or New Hampshire. The Sonja Honey ice troupe which opens here tonight, travels in a special train of 12 Pullmans.

REVOLTA TRIMS Campaign Of Eating COOPER 7 AND 6 Is Indication Conn Will Abandon Crown

San Francisco, Calif., Jan. 20.—(A)—Trim, square shouldered Johnny Revolva pocketed $1,000 and the San Francisco match play open golf title and headed for new fields today.

The Evanston, Ill., professional, playing streamlined golf under the worst possible weather conditions, rolled up the most one-sided count in the 11-year history of the tournament to defeat Harry Cooper of Chicago, 7 and 6, in the finals yesterday.

He hacked sensational sub-par golf out of a course flooded by rain. Much of the match was played in a downpour. Greens were covered with water and a miniature lake formed on one fairway.

When Revolva closed out the match on the 30th hole he was four under par for the par 72 course. Cooper, not up to his usually airtight game, finished three strokes over.

As runner up, Cooper won $500. Tony Penna, of Dayton, Ohio, won $425 third money.

The touring brigade headed today for Southern California to meet in the Bing Crosby amateur professional $3,000 event, January 24 to 26.

PENN BOTTLES IN CONFERENCE WIN

Sheffield, Jan. 20.—Outclassing their opponents in every department of play, the Sheffield Penn Bottles defeated the Sykesville Raiders, formerly the Shamrocks, in an Allegheny Mountain Conference tilt on the local high school court Saturday night, 38 to 21.

The visitors missed every one but the last of 14 free throws awarded them.

The Warren Penn Merchants, scheduled in place of the Marienville Firemen when the latter cancelled, were edged by Sheffield's O'Connors, 44 to 40, in the prelim.

It was a hotly contested battle and required an extra period to determine the decision, the score at the end of the regulation playing time reading 34 all.

RIP SEWELL PUTS NAME ON CONTRACT

Pittsburgh, Jan. 20.—(A)—Signing of ace pitcher Truett (Rip) Sewell today brought the number of Pirate players under 1941 contracts to 20, more than half the number on the club roster.

Rip sent word from Montgomery, Ala., that he was in excellent shape and confident of having an even more successful season than in 1940 when he won 16 and lost only five for a mark of .762, second only to Fred Fitzsimmons in the National League. He was the first Pirate hurler to win 16 games since Bill Swift in 1926.

Tomorrow night's fray between the Dragons and the Jays of Johnsonburg should bring into Beatty gym as large, if not a larger, crowd than did the Bradford game, for the Johnnies and the Kolpien combine will both be battling to stay in the first half running.

As of today, Johnsonburg, Warren, Emporium and Kane are in a deadlock for second place, with Bradford undefeated and a full game out ahead. Bill Grumley, brother of Bob who starred for the Johnnies two seasons ago, and Frank Gigliotti are the babies the Dragons will have to watch, but if the locals move as nicely as they did against Emporium they need not fear even that pair of veteran defensive men good to see "Red" Tucker and himself, for the veteran defensive man dog; he not appears to be in top shape and ready to protect the blue and white goal in his accustomed fashion.

Stu Maguire, sports savor of the Jamestown Journal, comes front and center with the worthy suggestion that Jamestown's new stadium, where the Pony League will hold forth next summer, be named "Bargar Stadium" in honor of Municipal Judge Allen Bargar, whose efforts in behalf of baseball in Jamestown have often been mentioned in this pillar. Stu comments, "In the clear, quick language of the living, Judge Bargar is Jamestown's Mr. Baseball. The judge's record as a foremost leader of munny and county baseball leagues, his unflagging interest in all that augurs for the welfare and improvement of the sport in this section, his unremitting activities in behalf of the stadium fund—these and other attributes are too familiar to sport followers of this section to require narration herewith. The only opposition to such a procedure in having the plant named Bargar Stadium might be voiced by persons who have incurred judicial penalties in City court, and such remonstrances must be considered wholly illogical and along the line of personal bias."

Judge Bargar and your agent had a number of conversations about Warren, Jamestown and the Pony League last summer, and the magistrate was willing to lend any aid he could to induce local residents to see the light. He painted a very clear and rosy picture of what organized baseball has done for Jamestown, and it is unfortunate that the judge couldn't be given a platform of a stump here to flail the flagging interest. Jamestown is indeed fortunate to have as prominent a resident as Judge Bargar to keep the baseball spark alive, and while a number of well known Warren men have volunteered aid in cash, the city should ever go into the municipal stadium idea, none has appeared to take the bull by the horns. Meanwhile, our neighboring communities of Bradford, Jamestown and Clear have adopted organized ball, provided facilities for playing and unified community interest to a point which evidently can be attained only by such a common interest.

That spring is just around the corner was attested Saturday when the door to our sanctuary opened to admit the Peter Pan of baseball, Reuben "Rabbit" Swanson. The gingery veteran beat around the bush for quite some time before admitting he was interested in the future of the Times-Mirror Sunset League. We told "Red" that there will definitely be a circuit here this summer if the Russell Field diamond is in shape and if the rental is not too stiff. If the loop goes through, it is probable that many Forgers will be in action.

YEARS AGO IN SPORT

January 20, 1921. Al Martin and Eugene Evence, accompanied by Al Martin, left this morning for Pittsburgh where the boys will enter the boxing tournament tonight and tomorrow night at the Pittsburgh Athletic Club.

January 20, 1921. Manager James Hornsby Wilson, of the McCabe Restaurant team, has plenty of alibis for the showing his team made last night in dropping four to the Times-Mirror Elks. The most sound excuse is the absence of Joe Goldstein from the lineup.

Basketball's Growth

It was the professionals who took to the sport in the early days of basketball. They played in a wire cage, with no out-of-bounds rule and no backboards. A good tough slugger could go a long way. The term "cage game" has stuck.

The dribble was discovered by accident. A player dropping the ball unintentionally batted it several times in attempt to recover it.

Recent rule changes have speeded up the game, most important one being the elimination of the center jump after scores. Various zone defenses have largely taken the place of man-for-man guarding.

Prior to 1914, three rules committees exercised jurisdiction in various parts of the country. This was overcome by formation of a joint rules committee. The personal foul rule was adopted to encourage participants to play the ball, not the man.

President Roosevelt Takes Oath Before Huge Crowd

(From Page One)
Seated about him on the platform were Mrs. Roosevelt, the president's aged mother, and other members of the four generation family.

To his left, as he spoke and the breeze ruffled his graying hair was Vice President Wallace, who leaned forward and never took his eyes from Mr. Roosevelt. Mrs. Wallace, a corsage of purple orchids pinned to her milk coat, sat between the president and Governor M. M. Neely of West Virginia.

Above the stand flew the stars and stripes and the president's own blue and gold flag, while high above the statue of freedom looked down from the dome.

The vast assembly, huddled in overcoats and blankets, listened quietly throughout the speech. There was a round of applause when the president made his declaration that democracy was not dying.

"The democratic faith, he said with emphasis, 'speaks to us from the other nations of the hemisphere, and from those across the sea—the enslaved, as well as the free.'"

To two honored guests on the platform those words had a special import—Crown Prince Olav and Crown Princess Martha of Norway, exiled from their homeland by the German invasion.

Before going to the capitol, Mr. Roosevelt and his family bowed their heads in prayer at St. John's Episcopal church just a block from the White House across Lafayette Park.

Seated in the same pew he had occupied for services prior to his first two inaugurations, the president joined in supplications for world peace and defense of American liberties.

Mr. Roosevelt sat next to the aisle in the second pew of the church. The first pew was unoccupied.

Next to the president was his wife, then his mother, with Wallace, Mrs. Wallace and Garner in the same pew.

The service in which the president joined asked divine guidance "for our country," "for the president of the United States and all in civil authority," for social justice, and "for the family of nations."

"Almighty God, our Heavenly Father," read one prayer, "guide us, beseech thee the nations of the world into the way of justice and truth, and establish among them that peace which is the fruit of righteousness, that they may become the kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ."

After the services, the president left the church on James' arm, bareheaded and without an overcoat, pausing to chat with the three officiating clergymen while the president concluded his speech at 12:30 p. m. and the audience applauded before Monsignor Michael J. Ready delivered the benediction.

Then Mr. Roosevelt stepped forward and waved his high silk hat as the Marine Band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner."

Garner and Wallace rushed up to the president to shake his hand. Garner presented a few other dignitaries and the group slowly filed back into the capitol.

The entire ceremony, unique in the long traditions of the republic, had lasted little more than a half hour.

Many said it was the best trans-Atlantic reception they had ever heard.

There was no immediate official reaction to the president's inaugural address.

2000 behind ropes cheered and photographers snapped pictures. On the short ride to the White House, Mr. Roosevelt responded to cheers of a huge crowd by waving his top hat.

The senate and house met at 11:30 a. m. The senate to hear speeches and adopt a resolution eulogizing Garner's eight years as president; the house for routine business. The membership of both bodies then filed out to outdoor stands for the inaugural ceremony.

Mr. Roosevelt left the White House for the capitol at 11:40 a. m. Riding with him in his open car were Speaker Rayburn and Senator Barkley. Rayburn sat in the middle.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt followed in the second car; Garner was in the next car and Wallace and Mrs. Wallace came next.

Mr. Roosevelt, reached the capitol at 11:53 a. m., amid uproarious cheers of a crowd estimated by Captain William S. Orthman of the capitol police at more than 75,000.

Members of the supreme court—all except Justice Douglas, who was ill—mounted the white rostrum before which the presidential flag and an American flag were unfurled at 11:55. Previously the court had held its regular Monday decision session.

When Mr. Roosevelt reached the platform, Garner administered the oath to Wallace at 12:10 p. m. A few minutes earlier, Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, clad in the black robes of his office, had chatted with both men.

Now the chief justice stepped forward and gave Mr. Roosevelt his oath for the third time at 12:11½ p. m.

Bareheaded, the president turned toward the vast audience before him and began his inaugural address.

Wallace had given a firm "I do" to the oath of office read by Garner, and the president had stood on the arm of his son James, atired in his marine captain's uniform, as he faced the chief justice.

Mr. Roosevelt delivered his talk slowly, enunciating each word clearly. His voice was carried to distant plaza listeners by loud speakers.

The president concluded his speech at 12:30 p. m. and the audience applauded before Monsignor Michael J. Ready delivered the benediction.

Then Mr. Roosevelt stepped forward and waved his high silk hat as the Marine Band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner."

Fuehrer And Duce Confer

While the Axis leaders conferred, the British reported that the success in the drive to "tear Italy's African empire to tatters and shreds"—as promised by Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

British troops in East Africa were reported today to have routed two Italian divisions (about 24,000 men) and inflicted 2,000 casualties in fierce fighting around the town of Kassala, in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

London military quarters said the capture of Kassala, held by the Italians since last July, was carried out by "numerically inferior British forces against an enemy very well armed and equipped."

Supported by Ethiopian tribesmen, the British were reported to be pursuing Fascist legions fleeing eastward all along the 200-mile Sudanese border.

British light tanks and armored cars led the pursuit, it was said, and the British were reported to be pursuing Fascist legions fleeing eastward all along the 200-mile Sudanese border.

Propose Gift to Britain

red on the chief executive was necessary.

Despite the adjournment of congress for the inauguration, the house leadership considered ways to hasten action on the Aid-to-Britain legislation. White House lieutenants were hopeful that the foreign affairs committee would wind up public hearings by the end of this week.

Joseph P. Kennedy, who criticized some provisions of the bill in an address Saturday night, will testify tomorrow, and Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was among the witnesses to be heard later in the week.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), opposition leader, declared that there is a goodly number of senators who oppose this legislation who would be willing to vote a definite amount of money and give it to Great Britain, the sum depending upon what army and navy experts feel would be necessary to aid the British at this time.

"They see no reason why we should grant totalitarian powers to the president in the name of building up our defenses or in the name of helping democracies throughout the world,"

Wheeler said that "another group of senators" opposed giving Britain aid until she had exhausted her credits and those of her possessions.

"If these two groups could get together," he added, "this dictatorship bill could be defeated and the people of the country could know what was being done by their government. They would know how much they are going to be asked to sacrifice, if anything."

Wheeler claimed that "we already have a senate majority opposed to the principle of the president's lend-lease legislation."

Magic Spring

YESTERDAY: In the matter of David Wiley, personable young man of Ardendale, the situation is rapidly getting down to a battle. The contenders will be Polly, who is the girl David intends to marry, and Margo, the sweet girl who intends to marry David. Margo is aided by a good many things, including the fact that her father is David's boss, and the more important fact that Polly is the kind of girl who would release David if she thought it was for his betterment.

Chapter 17

Margo Tries

"YOU certainly are talkative," said Margo, glancing at him. "Sorry," David grinned. "I was thinking about a lot of things I'd like to do—if I suddenly found that I was in the middle of a war."

"What sort of things?" Margo asked. "Oh, such things as making the law come to life," said David, "and giving a lot of people aid and comfort."

"It would be a good idea," Margo said. "But I don't think you should do that. You should stick to your own business."

"I don't see why not," Margo said. "You're a lawyer, aren't you? You should be able to do that."

"I don't see why not," Margo said. "You're a lawyer, aren't you? You should be able to do that."

CLARION HOTEL RAZED BY FIRE; GUESTS ESCAPE

In the worst fire suffered by Clarion in 25 years, the four-story Clarion Hotel structure was razed by flames yesterday morning with the resultant damage placed at $135,000.

Two guests narrowly escaped death or injury.

Four fire companies from other communities aided the Clarion firemen and battled the stubborn flames, fanned by a strong wind, for more than three hours in near zero temperatures. One hundred and fifty firemen worked on the blaze and succeeded in confining it to the hotel building.

The fire was discovered shortly before nine o'clock by a clerk as he opened a door leading to the basement. It is the belief of the management and firemen that the fire was the result of a defect in the wiring system.

None of the records or equipment was saved.

Business places which were gutted included Smith's Market, Ganes Barber Shop, Carl's Grill, the office of Justice of the Peace James J. Arner and a branch office of the Oil City Derrick, all of which were housed in the hotel building.

Two of the guests were forced to escape onto third floor porch where they awaited ladders raised by the firemen. All lost their personal effects.

Sheffield News

Sheffield, Jan. 20. It is expected that a large crowd will be present in the high school auditorium at eight o'clock tonight for the opening of the Institute of International Understanding, being presented here this month and next under the auspices of the Rotary Club.

The speaker tonight will be Major C. Douglas Booth, traveler, publicist and lecturer of note, who will speak on the subject: "What's Ahead for Business, Agriculture and Labor." Major Booth, who will be introduced by C. H. Whittaker, president of the Rotary Club, is scheduled to address the student body of the high school this afternoon.

Visitor

THE maid went back to the house. Margo tore open the envelope and drew out the message. "Hold a match for me, will you, David?" she said.

"Nothing unpleasant, I hope," she said. "We Willys always believed no one sent a telegram unless it was bad news." He grinned. "I reckon that's because none we got ever contained any other news."

"No," said Margo. "It's from a man I met in Europe."

"That's nice," said David. "I hope it's someone you like."

"Oh, he's not bad," said Margo. "He's taking a business trip through this part of the state and wants to stop off here for a few days to see me."

"You're going to let him, aren't you?"

"Yes," she said. "I think I am."

She folded the telegram slowly. "Maybe when Warren McNeill came to Ardendale, she David found out that the young doctor wanted to marry her, it would change a lot of things."

If competition was the life of trade, as the old bromide put it, it ought to also be able to put some life into the business of love and being loved.

Besides, it would be fun to see Warren again. He was an attractive man and there were so few like that here in town where her father had made his fortune.

"He once asked me to marry him," she told David. "And he'll probably do it again."

David smiled. "Well," he said, "I don't want to give you something to look forward to."

"Perhaps," said Margo. "But since I've come home and met you, David, I feel differently about a lot of matters."

There didn't seem to be anything David could say in answer to that—so he remained silent.

"I'll be going in now," said Margo.

"Yes," David replied. "I should be getting on home."

"But not until you've had some coffee and cake," said Margo. "There's chocolate later—made by our cook who specializes in cakes."

Warren Ski Club To See Movies Tonight

A real treat is promised members of the Warren Ski Club in the program of entertaining movies to be shown this evening at 8:45 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. activities building.

Through the courtesy of John W. Paulsen, representative of the popular Sun Valley resort and the Union Pacific Railroad Company, these pictures are sponsored by officials of the club and the public is invited to view them if interested.

There are three films in the group: "Spring Ski Chase," featuring Dick Dorrance, national downhill and combined champion; "Ski Skills," featuring Freid Pfeiffer, national slalom champion and head of the Sun Valley Ski School; "Sun Valley Holiday," showing last year's Harman trophy national combined championship held at Sun Valley.

Opening—♠ K. 20

BY WM. E. MCKENNEY, America's Card Authority

At every national tournament there is a good story or two, but I think the prize story of all time happened on the tournament floor at Philadelphia.

The waiter had a cart which he wheeled from table to table serving soft drinks. He came up to a table and one of the players said, "Two cokes." Whereupon the opponent on his left said, "I double."

"Double what?" said the player. "Double your two club bid."

"But I didn't bid two clubs. I asked the waiter for two cokes."

"Well, I thought you said two clubs," he said.

"But," said the two-coke bidder, "he has given information about his hand."

The referee looked at the bidder's hand, then drew him aside from the table and said, "What did you plan to bid?"

"Two clubs," he said.

"Don't you think you ought to bid just what you intended to, even though you know you will be doubled?"

"Yes, I guess so."

So the matter was settled amicably by changing "two cokes" to two clubs. North's double stood but South took it out and went to game in hearts. He made game easy by ruffing one round of spades in dummy.

Colds Have Launched A "BLITZKRIEG"!!

Watch Out For Your Family!

NOW with epidemic colds spreading their misery—be careful, be as careful as you can. Do everything possible to help safeguard your family against the "blitzkrieg". There are certain time-tested precautions you can take that may save you and yours a great deal of sickness, worry and expense.

First of all, get plenty of rest, good sound sleep. Eat simple but nourishing food—vegetables and fresh fruits if available. Drink plenty of water and keep elimination regular. Take some exercise every day—preferably outdoors in clean, fresh air. Then let trustworthy Vicks help you.

Use These Two Time-Tested Treatments Whenever Needed

To Help Prevent Many Colds from Developing

At the first sniffle, sneeze or sign of nasal irritation—put a few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol up each nostril right away. This helps to prevent many colds from developing. Because Va-tro-nol is expressly designed to help your natural defenses against colds in the nose

TIME-TESTED
VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

To Quickly Relieve Miseries of Developed Colds

When a cold gets by all precautions and causes muscular soreness or tightness, spells of coughing or irritation in the upper bronchial tubes, relieve such misery the improved Vicks way—with a 3-minute VapoRub Massage.

Massage VapoRub for 3 minutes on IMPORTANT RIB-AREA OF BACK as well as throat and chest. Spread a thick layer over chest and cover up. This more thorough treatment actually increases the important STIMULATING-POULTICE action and PENETRATING-VAPOR action of VapoRub. And makes this famous old family standby work faster and longer to relieve distress of colds.

TIME-TESTED
VICKS VAPORUB

REMEMBER THIS... Both Va-tro-nol and VapoRub have been thoroughly tested through years of constant use in millions of homes. If the miserable symptoms of the cold are not relieved promptly—or if more serious trouble seems to threaten—call in your family physician right away.

BE HAPPY WITH YOUR BATHROOM HOAGVALL SAYS

Until recently, bathroom facilities in the average home have been pretty largely handled by providing an average amount of convenience with minimum equipment in minimum space. But now, more and more people are realizing that minimum convenience is not enough.

Today, convenience is getting sensible attention; and bathrooms are being planned to serve the needs of the family to best advantage. Individually it is staid hand in hand with convenience. People are thinking for themselves in terms of what will suit them best.

Remember, when you are selecting plumbing equipment, whether for a new home or for a remodel, one, you expect it to last many years, the Hoagvall Hardware, 213 Penna. Ave., E., points out in calling attention to their plumbing supplies and services.

The manner in which this equipment is made—the way in which it is installed have much to do with assuring long life as well as the satisfactory operation you have a right to expect. In permanent equipment of this nature be sure it is the best obtainable—installed by a plumbing establishment like Hoagvall's.

Sit down and figure out your requirements. How many are there in the family? What time schedules dictates morning use? Are there any slow-pokes? You need to answer these and similar questions.

to determine what bathroom facilities you require.

In any bathroom, the fixtures you see are only half of the installation; for behind the walls and beneath the floor is the hidden piping which brings fresh water, removes waste. Upon their proper planning and installation, the efficiency of your bathroom depends. This piping must, of necessity, be of as high a quality as the fixtures themselves if you expect your bathroom to continue giving you satisfaction.

Take those friends to the White House Inn, Conewago Avenue Extension, Warren's favorite night club, for fine entertainment and quality mixed drinks.
